He always made himself available to us when we had questions or comments over lessons, tests, homework, or misc things. He held to his office hours and study sessions. He worked with our schedules the best he could for study sessions as well. He took consideration of his mistakes in class and corrected them promptly. He put class reviews online and solutions for homework. He always had a pre-made class outline and examples for each day. he was well organized, prompt, and courteous. I learned alot and felt he did a wonderful job teaching. At times he would get mixed up and mess up, but he always corrected his mistakes and was patient with us and our mistakes and questions.

He always would answer everyones questions and he had help sessions before every test.

He did a really good job of making sure we covered everything that would be on the test and graded our quizzes very quickly.

He goes out of his way to help us, and i am always prepared for my tests. ive never had any complaints about his teaching while i have heard some of my friends complaining about another teacher that they have.

He made a few mistakes in class during teaching but overall, I thought he was a very enthusiastic and helpful teacher.

He was always extremely prepared and was there in case anyone had any questions. However, he made a lot of careless mistakes in his lessons and was not as confident in front of the class as he should have been.

I was very impressed how he cared about teaching and did a fantastic job! He seemed nervous at the begining of the year but i think he deserves great praise because i've heard bad things about TA's but Phil is MOST OUTSTANDING Teacher! He stayed late for study sessions late into the night the day before the test. He prepares us well for the tests!!!

make himself avabliable and help a lot with everything that i did not understand

Mr. Bergonio was always willing to help us whenever we needed him. He always made extra time for help sessions outside of class.

MY teacher was very fair and and did a great job teaching the material. He also used his time when helping us study for exams.

Pay attention to little details in class. Try to eliminate the careless errors.

Phil Bergonio has been a great teacher for me. One thing I appreciate most about him is the help he provided during test weeks, he had study sesions (he even stayed extra, like 2 hours) in order to help me understand the material. He makes many resources available to help understand precalculus.

Phil Bergonio was very fair with his grading policy. He was always available for help and answered all questions asked by the class.

Phil was the best teacher I have ever had. In high school i only memorized how to do problems. But Phil taught me how to work through the steps logically and understand why they work. He was always available for tutoring during and after his office hours. Phil should seriously get an award or something. If you showed up in class, paid attention and asked questions, you should not have too much trouble with the tests.

Phil was very good at teaching the material. I had already started to take the course once before last year and I had to withdraw because I couldn't comprehend what my teacher was trying to teach me. Phil knew exactly how to tell us how problems should be worked out, the best ways to approach them, and gave us extra problems to try at home to teach us. Great job!

Teacher did well responding to questions and class and was very patient with students who may have taken longer to understand material.

the instructor took office hours to another level. there was never a moment he was unavailable for quiz, homework, and even test questions. the instructor even took the test with the class to compare the test to the concerns he heard in class. very thorough and very comprehensible are the best ways to describe the course.
